

So You Think You Can't Draw?

Pablo Picasso wrote,

"The critics say I draw like a child. When I was a child I drew like Raphael. It took me my whole life to draw like a child".

We invite you to connect with your own childhood experiences of art making, and pick up a pencil, some paper, a drawing board and a stool, and spend some time in our latest exhibition If Pain Persists: Linde Ivimey Sculpture.

No assessment, no exams, just an opportunity to engage with these sculptural works in the UQ Art Museum.

You are welcome to take your drawings with you, or add them to our drawing wall in the foyer. This is a pilot summer drawing program, and we welcome your feedback.
